

SALAM Lecture Series 3

Irregular Migration, Poverty, and Development in South Asia

22 February 2022 | 4.00 PM to 5.30 PM (IST)

In this lecture, Priya Deshingkar will discuss the growing prevalence of irregular migration across South Asia and the implications for migrants, their families, and receiving countries. She will draw on her wider experience to critically explore the implications of existing migration policies and offer recommendations to reduce the costs and risks of migration. She will also set out future directions for research in this area.
